Clayton B. Gordon (“Clay”) is the Director of Complex Litigation & Strategic Development at McMichael Taylor Gray. Clay has over 20 years of experience working in the real estate and consumer finance space, including serving as a litigator for both servicers and borrowers, counseling debtors in bankruptcy court, representing sellers and buyers as a real estate transactions attorney, writing title insurance policies, negotiating and drafting residential and commercial agreements, and practicing in other areas including insurance defense, commercial litigation, and admiralty and maritime law.

Clay is admitted to practice law in Florida, the District of Columbia, and the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Florida. In his current role at McMichael Taylor Gray, Clay focuses on complex litigation and strategic development, drawing on his extensive experience in mortgage servicing, real estate, consumer finance, and litigation to support the firm and its clients.

Clay lives in Florida with his wife and two daughters and enjoys offshore fishing, golf, traveling, and watching his girls compete at volleyball tournaments throughout the state.
